What our Faculty's Says

Professor Rupal Jain :

I get mails of students with their sample case studies solution.. It feels good to see their capability as already working provides added value to your study, by providing real-life insights and examples that can help you better understand your studies. work is still providing you with the skills of prioritizing, managing, balancing tasks, time-management, dealing with colleagues and customers etc. All of this is invaluable when compared to the inexperience of a full-time student..

Professor Jyoti Dixit :

Students who work and study seem to enjoy the best of everything. They get their education and at the same time are able to keep their jobs and get a paycheck. However, it isn't as easy as it sounds and studying at the same time as working is probably one of the hardest things you'll ever do in life. but IIBMS makes it possible as the exam that they conduct are into case studies which becomes easy for working professional to go through it..

Professor Parag Rabade :

You can earn and study at the same time! Flexibility is the biggest advantage of distance learning courses. This stands true especially if you are a working professional. Not everyone has the luxury of taking their own time to finish their studies. For those who had to take a break from studies to start working, such courses are a boon and provide the opportunity to pursue higher
